The University of Virginia defeated the University of South Carolina 13 to 0 in their annual football game played at Columbia Saturday. In speaking of the game the Columbia State says: "William Folger, one of the best backs this state has ever produced, played the game of his life. On the offensive and on the defense alike he was a terror to Virginia. With Buck Mayer and Eddie Anderson playing at the halves for the visitors, and both of them recognized stars, Folger did not have an easy task to be the feature of the day's entertainment. But by wonderful tackling, brilliant running and all-round real football work, the lad from Pickens county shone above the heads of the others, and last night was the topic of conversation on Columbia's streets. One enthusiastic Carolina alumnus suggested that a monument be erected to Folger on the university campus."
